PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Thousands of insurance claims are filed every day. Most are settled and paid with little effort. Unfortunately often claims are contested and many result in litigation. Litigation is costly and time consuming to both the insured and to the carrier. Often nobody wins. This panel of seasoned professionals will put on the gloves and share their tactics and secrets of litigating and defending casualty, property, construction and environmental insurance claims. The panel includes attorneys and senior insurance claims managers, who are often adversarial, as well as claims strategy consultants and brokers. Guidance and advice will also be offered on preventing claims and avoiding litigation.
